

The Globe and Mail: Report on Business Magazine Security Surges

'For many small- and medium-sized companies, it's impossible to find the resources or the expertise to fend off the rapidly growing number of attacks and keep patching up software vulnerabilities, says Robert Offley, chief executive officer of Fusepoint Managed Services Inc. "We can wear the pager and be there to do the security fixes, while they can focus on running their business.'"

- Fusepoint CEO Robert Offley highlights the advantages of partnering with a trusted managed security services provider in the November issue of Report on Business Magazine

<http://www.globetechnology.com>